

A family run company founded in 1987, and situated in Wembley, North London, GES provides procurement, manufacturing and testing services to Blue-chip Electronics Companies in many industries. From Military Communications and Infrastructure equipment to Professional Audio products and systems GES has enjoyed long-term relationships with many well known companies.

With process capability from cable and harness manufacture, Conventional and Surface mount PCB assembly, final equipment builds and sophisticated electronic testing techniques spanning a wide spectrum, GES is able to offer a complete and tailored service to suit all customers' demands.